

The NSAC summer program

As of yet, the Rab NSAC summer program for 2020 is being realized.

Every year the NSAC organizes the summer program, in cooperation with all the 13 SACs. The NSAC summer program offers alpine courses for different levels of experience to beginners and more advanced climbers, with the purpose of making everyone independent for performing alpine routes. These courses aim for those who have the ambition to perform these routes at a certain difficulty, and possibly, eventually wish to lead these expeditions.

This summer, the NSAC will organize the summer courses again. Gaining experience and knowledge in rock, snow and ice will be combined with making awesome expeditions! The alpine courses will be elaborated on within your own SAC at specific information evenings, during activities or at the climbing wall. You can ask your Alpine Coordinator or Committee, who will give information, answer questions and tell beautiful stories about his or her experiences. You will also be able to find information on this website, under the heading of 'summer'.

Look around on the website for more information about the specific courses. Also have a look on our Facebook page to stay informed of all the news regarding the summer program. Check out this movie:

Disclaimer: we advise all participants of courses to arrange a cancelation insurance. Be quick with this!

The NSAC summer camping 2020

Every year the NSAC arranges a place where every SAC member can join to go on alpine routes. Whether you've just followed the C1 course, or you're an experienced mountaineer or you've never been in the mountains before; everybody is welcome!

Time

The location is to be announced at a later hour, but the NSAC summer camping will be from the 6th to the 24th of July.

Discount

Members of a SAC will receive a discount from the NSAC for every night that they're staying on the camping.

Gear

There won't be any climbing gear available on the camping, so bring everything that you need yourself.

Alpine routes

TBA

Responsibilities

Mountaineering is a great sport, and there's nothing better than to travel together with your fellow SAC members in the Alps. However, the mountains can be very unpredictable and therefore dangerous. Be aware of the following when you're coming to the NSAC camping:

There will NOT be instructors present who are responsible for your safety and wellbeing. Possibly experienced mountaineers are willing to let the less experienced tag along. Very nice, since the NSAC is an organization where we want to learn from each other. However, you cannot simply expect someone to guide you. You are responsible for your own safety and planning your own expeditions (for example with the help of mountain guides, booklets, the hut tenants, maps, the weather and whatnot). Moreover, you're responsible for knowing your own limits and level of difficulty and expertise (and that of your buddies).

Useful information and telephone numbers

In case of emergency (ICE)

General emergency number: 112

NSAC emergency number: +31 (0)6 40 03 35 96

In the period of 1st of July until 31st of August, the NSAC board will always carry the emergency phone with them.
